Project Summary (what the overall scope is):

Shields Lake is a small (30 acres), eutrophic basin in northern Washington County that drains via a channel into Forest Lake. An electric fish barrier is being operated along the channel to prevent the movement of rough fish between Forest Lake and Shields Lake. The electric fish barrier is unreliable due to its old age and failing hardware. The CLFLWD installed a passive barrier that provides rough fish management at a lower long-term cost.

Narrative description of work completed and what is remaining to complete:

The passive barrier was installed in summer of 2019 by Dunaway Construction. The electric barrier was left in place as a backup measure, but will not be upgraded as would be necessary if it were the only barrier in place.
